

GSK donates three million baht to six hospitals to fight against COVID-19

GlaxoSmithKline (Thailand) Limited, or GSK, one of the leading manufacturers of medicines and vaccines, donated three million baht to six hospitals throughout the country: the Siriraj Foundation, the Bamrasnaradura Infectious Diseases Institute, Pranangklaio Hospital, Nakornping Hospital in Chiang Mai, Sunpasitthiprasong Hospital Ubon Ratchathani and Songklanagarind Hospital in Songkla. The donation will go towards the purchase of medical equipment and supplies to fight against COVID-19, and will help support medical professionals who are on the frontlines of this pandemic.

Mr. Viriya Chongphaisal, General Manager of GlaxoSmithKline (Thailand) Limited or GSK, said, “COVID-19 has resulted in a dramatic impact around the world. GSK will use our scientific and technology experts, as well as our resources, to support both global and national efforts to tackle this pandemic, especially in developing medicines and vaccines to fight the virus. This will ensure that all of us can safely get through this crisis.”

“We would like to express our sincere gratitude to the medical professionals and all of the workers who are on the frontlines fighting this pandemic. We strongly believe that effective collaborations involving all parties will help us get through this crisis very soon.”
