

Syngenta, the world's leader in agricultural science support the government, provide Personal Protective Equipment - PPE to help hospitals fight COVID together

Syngenta Companies in Thailand, an agricultural leader of the world, including plant protection, seeds, research stations, and production plants support the government, provide the personal protective equipment (PPE) to fight the COVID-19. It consists of a PPE cover suites, N95 protection masks, surgical masks, medical gloves, hair covering caps, safety glasses, aprons and face shields for 32 hospitals under the Ministry of Public Health and 5 hospitals in the Army, a total of 37 places, including personnel of the Internal Security Operations Command, a total of more than 20,000 sets with worth over 1,000,000 baht. The support from Syngenta this time will help all medical personnel to work with confidence, safety, and more efficiency.

